Martin County Property Appraiser

Information Required for Homestead Exemption Application

All the following information is required for all owners who reside on your property. One spouse may apply for the other as long as they bring the other spouse's information. Homebound persons should contact the Property Appraiser's office to arrange a home visit to file an application. We are at your service and would be happy to assist you.

- Florida voter registration information.
- Florida driver's license information. If you don't drive, a Florida ID card information.
- Florida vehicle registration information if you own or drive a vehicle in Florida (including leased vehicles).
- Social security number. You must submit your spouse's social security number, even if they do not own the property. Per Florida Statute 196.011(1b), the Property Appraiser's Office may not grant an application for exemptions if the applicant refuses to submit their social security number and the social security number of their spouse if they are married.
- Owners who have transferred the interest of their residential property into a trust must have a "Trust Certificate" completed by their attorney. The Property Appraiser must be able to determine who has current beneficial interest in the trust in order to determine who may be eligible to qualify for homestead exemption. This form is available in our office or under the "Forms" section on our website.
- If you are not a U.S. citizen and have a permanent resident card, you may qualify for homestead exemption. You must provide your permanent resident card information.

If you prefer to file online, visit the "Quick Links" section on the homepage of our website at www.pa.martin.fl.us.

PENALTIES

The property appraiser has a duty to put a tax lien on your property if you received a homestead exemption during the past 10 years that you were not entitled to receive. The property appraiser will notify you that taxes with penalties and interest are due. You will have 30 days to pay before a lien is recorded. If this was not an error by the property appraiser, you will be subject to a penalty of 50 percent of the unpaid taxes and 15 percent interest each year (see ss. s. 196.011(10) and 196.161(1)(b), F.S.).

If you improperly receive a homestead exemption as a result of the property appraiser's clerical mistake or omission, you will not be assessed penalties or interest.

For tax years beginning in 2025, if you improperly receive an exemption as a result of the property appraiser's clerical mistake or omission, and you disclose the error to the property appraiser before you receive a notice of intent to record a lien, you will not be charged back taxes, penalties or interest. For special requirements for estates probated or administered outside Florida, see s. 196.161(1), F.S.

The information in this application will be given to the Department of Revenue. Under s. 196.121, F.S., the Department and property appraisers can give this information to any state where the applicant has resided. Social security numbers will remain confidential under s.193.114(5), F.S.

EXEMPTION AND DISCOUNT REQUIREMENTS

Homestead Every person who owns real property in Florida on January 1, makes the property his or her permanent residence or the permanent residence of a legal or natural dependent, and files an application may receive a property tax exemption up to $50,000. The first $25,000 applies to all property taxes. The added $25,000 applies to assessed value over $50,000 and only to non-school taxes.

Your local property appraiser will determine whether you are eligible. The appraiser may consider information such as the items requested on the bottom of page 1.

Save our Homes (SOH) Beginning the year after you receive homestead exemption, the assessment on your home cannot increase by more than the lesser of the change in the Consumer Price Index or 3 percent each year, no matter how much the just value increases. If you have moved from one Florida homestead to another within the last three years, you may be eligible to take some of your SOH savings with you. See your property appraiser for more information.

File the signed application for exemption with the county property appraiser.

This page does not contain all the requirements that determine your eligibility for an exemption.
